Successes!

A person with a visual impairment needed a ride from Warrenton to Columbia. MO RIDES found a company which stopped at the Warrenton commuter lot and transported the rider.

The cost of transportation took a large part of the income of a person with a developmental disability. Working with two local transportation companies, the individual was able to reduce the cost of getting to work. This helped maintain his independence and relieved the rider's parents from missing work to transport him.
